

Student/Faculty Agreement Audio-Recording Classroom Lectures

Students with disabilities, who are eligible to audio-record classroom lectures as a reasonable accommodation, may do so for their personal study only*. Such audio-recordings may not be accessed by other people without the consent of the instructor, are protected under federal copyright laws, and may not be published or quoted without the express consent of the lecturer and without giving proper identity and credit to the lecturer. Finally, the recordings must be deleted upon completion of the course.

I have read and understand the above agreement statement and pledge to abide by it while enrolled as a student in the following course for the semester listed at SF State.
